

Every dog has his day, and RBA staffers are no exception. Each year on Sadie Hawkins Day the girls have the rare opportunity of picking their own man. Once the boy is snared, a marriage ceremony is performed, and the happy couple is married through supper and staff meeting. Who knows? (This may be merely a preview of things to come.)

The RBA year includes each staffer celebrating his birthday. At these parties, the laughter is loud and the fellowship warm.

Got 'em!!!

"And just because we wanted to go dutch."

*Charles, been glad to hear from you these past two summers.
Wish you the very best of luck. Always keep the spirit of R.B.A. in your heart —
Love,
Suzanne Lopp*

"My group had 34% fewer cavities."

In the midst of staffers getting settled in their new environment, starting their work assignments, and getting used to the total daily schedule of RBA, tension and anxieties begin to build up. Each week seems to become heavier and heavier, and one finds himself knee deep in activities and responsibilities. The Annual Staff Play Day offers each staffer the release which is so greatly needed and deserved. It lets him really let go and live a bit. During this festive occasion, there are games to play, watermelon-eating contests, three-legged races, bubble-blowing contests, and water activities. This day of the summer is much anticipated and welcomed by all staffers.

Everybody can't win.
"POP"